Meeting Agenda

In today's meeting, we reviewed the progress made since our last discussion. Everyone shared the updates they had made to their sections and discussed any challenges they faced during the week. We provided feedback on each other's work and made sure that our research and writing stayed consistent in tone and structure.

We also discussed the next steps for the project, setting clear goals on completing the introduction and beginning work on the body sections.

Next meeting agenda

For the next meeting, everyone will polish their sections based on the feedback received. We plan to review the updated drafts, check for consistency across sections, and begin combining our work into a single document. We will also spend some time ensuring that all references are properly formatted before moving on to the next stage.
